Many times we have entered these doors, each time coming out with a new bit of knowledge.

Foreword

The staff who designed and planned your 1958 Saga has chosen as its theme "Growing Up." Although the theme has not been made overly obvious, we feel that the order of the book, which is arranged in ascending order of age, even suggests growing up. For this reason, the junior high section has been placed in the front and the faculty, who represent maturity, are in the back of the book. The members of the Saga staff hope that in years to come you will look back to your 1958 yearbook and recall many memories of the time during which you were growing up.

Dedication

To you, Mr. Earl Knutson we dedicate the Saga of 1958. As "commissioner" you started us out on the right foot when you were our advisor in the ninth grade. In the tenth grade you were again our advisor, and during our junior year at least some of us were under your supervision. The class of 1958 will always remember you for your understanding and sympathetic leadership.

Junior High

The younger group of students here at Creston compose the junior high. Their activities are mainly physical and require considerable adult supervision; the youngsters carry very little responsibility until the freshman year, when they sponsor the St. Pat's Prance. These students are quick in spirit as well as in movement, and they have a carefree air which we older students look on with a certain degree of envy and admiration.

Senior High

1. "The Gang." 2. Reminder. 3. Panic! 4. The tall & short of it. 5. Here I am. 6. Serious Stuff. 7. Now where did that go? 8. How does this fit? 9. Counting Ballots.

The recreation of the older students in senior high is not only less physical, but also more intellectual. The students are more capable of holding responsibility than the junior high boys and girls. The projects which they undertake require more extensive planning and group cooperation; more skill and knowledge; better student leadership and less adult advice. These sophomores and juniors are growing up under the careful guidance of their faculty, coaches, and parents. Their ability to follow now will determine their ability to lead later.

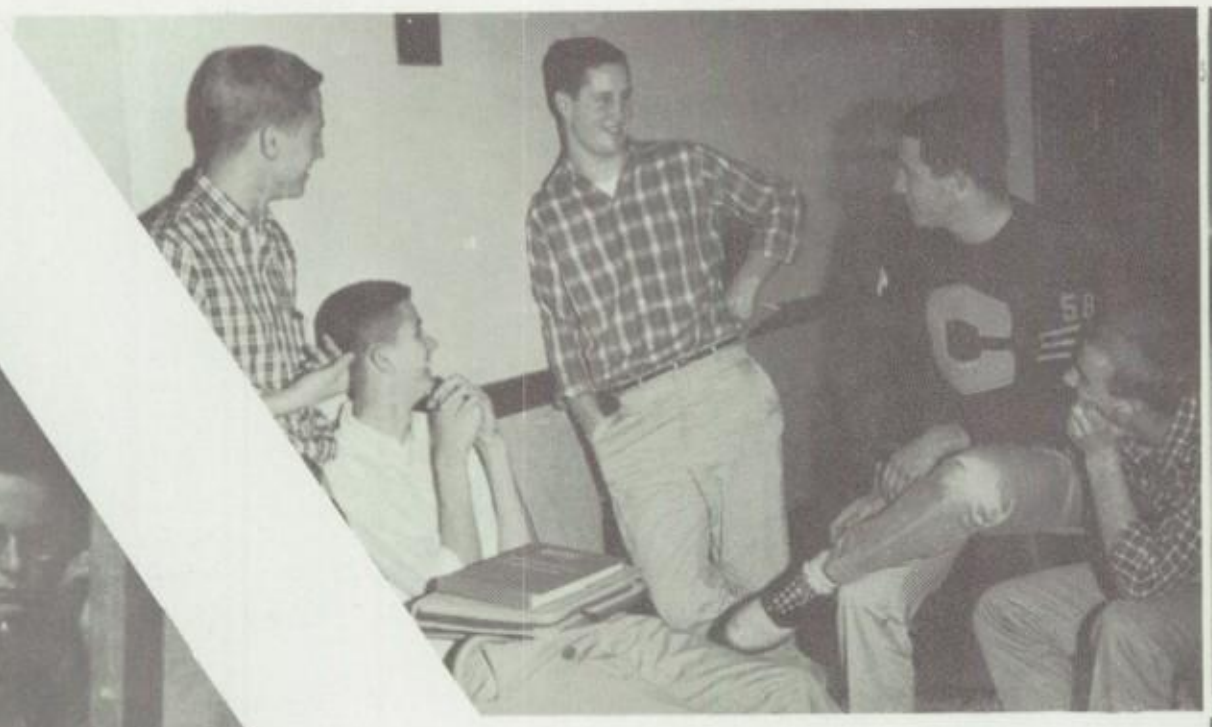
"Class of January, 1959"

Oh hum, one more hour I'll be done.



Senior Division

1. Sewing circle. 2. One of her few sober moments. 3. Hall guard? 4. Always Smiling. 5. Looking back. 6. Study Hall. 7. What ya doing tonight?

The present leaders of the student body; the future leaders of the country; the seniors. These are the people who set the pattern of behavior in high school. Because we will someday be leading the country, many of our activities involve leadership. We have taken a good many steps on the long road of life: and still, as we strain our eyes to see how many steps we have yet to go before we reach the end, we can neither see nor even comprehend the future.

Vice Pres. Ann Driver

Pres. Dave Annis

Mr. Rens, Class Advisor

Sec'y. Nancy Waldbridge

Treas. Louise Siereveld

Class of '58

The senior class of 58 began the year by electing the class officers. David Annis, President; Ann Driver, Vice President; Louise Siereveld, Treasurer; Nancy Walbridge, Secretary. Along with these were elected for the first time a board of directors whose work consisted of making plans for the year's activities. The board consisted of Nancy Johnston, Thomas Davidson, and Charles DeShane.

The year's social activities began with the annual homecoming football game and dance. Next came the Mid-Term Mingle held in honor of the mid-term graduates. March 20-21 was the date set for the Senior Play, "Dear Phoebe", closely followed by the Michigan State University Band Concert.

Susan White: She saw the world and came back to tell us about it.

Ruth Ann Whiting: Merrily she goes along.

Murry Williams: A nice guy with a nice manner.

Roger Williams: Sorry girls, he's an all-around athlete, but a one woman man.

Gerald Wilkins: Sparing of word — but not of energy.

Anita Wilson: How goodness heightens beauty.

Eleanor Winterhalter: A sincere friend with a heart of gold.

Gary Wonzer: It isn't death, but dying that alarms me.

Thomas Wood: Bashfulness is an ornament to youth.

Rosemary Woodward: Short and snappy, attractive and happy.

Alfred Yentsch: Always ready to contribute to fun making.

Robert Zenk: A solid substantial citizen.

Juanita La Bree: Her happiness is in activity.

Carolyn Leusenkamp: Don't worry, it makes wrinkles.

Judith Little: Love is the sweetest thing.

Ronald Lodwyk: When joy and duty clash, let duty go to smash.

Arden McConnell: What we have makes us what we are.

James Baker: A swell pal to have around.

Donald Baldwin: I am contented the way I am.

Diane Buffam: If wisdom was gold, she'd be a millionaire.

James Ekkens: Often seen, but not very often heard.

Marilyn Goossen: A fun loving miss.

Kenneth Hamstra: Little is known of his past, but his future looks bright.

Morton Harwood: Music is his business.

Robert Heintzelman: Quiet around school anyway.

Richard Klinkner: The ladies follow me, but I am hooked.

Mary Koskey: Her modest manners found relief in girlish giggles.

Arvid Van Dyke: Each man is the architect of his own life.

Carol Wert: Easy to know — easier to like.

Donald Yost: I haven't said much — yet!

Sydney Tew: Keen sense, common sense, yet there is room for nonsense.

Dennis Bauer: Men do not live in the past . . . forward is the universal cry.

Sandi Nuberg: Her face shines with innocence.

Ted Peterson: Not too serious, not too gay, but a real good friend in every way.

Jerry Richlick: A rare compound of mischief and fun.

Dale Springfield: Have fun while you can.

William Tingley: He will find a way or make it.

Richard Nassif: Good natured and big hearted.

Senior Class Song of "58"

O Creston High, as we leave you
Remembering the friends we knew
The work we did, and good times too
We are quite sad, we really do feel blue

But this we know — our future will be bright
For here we learned to tell wrong from right
O Creston High as we leave your gate
Remember us, the class of fifty-eight

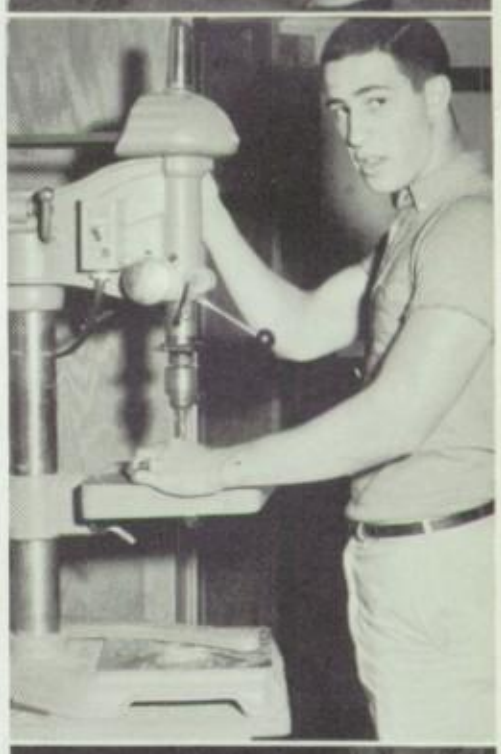
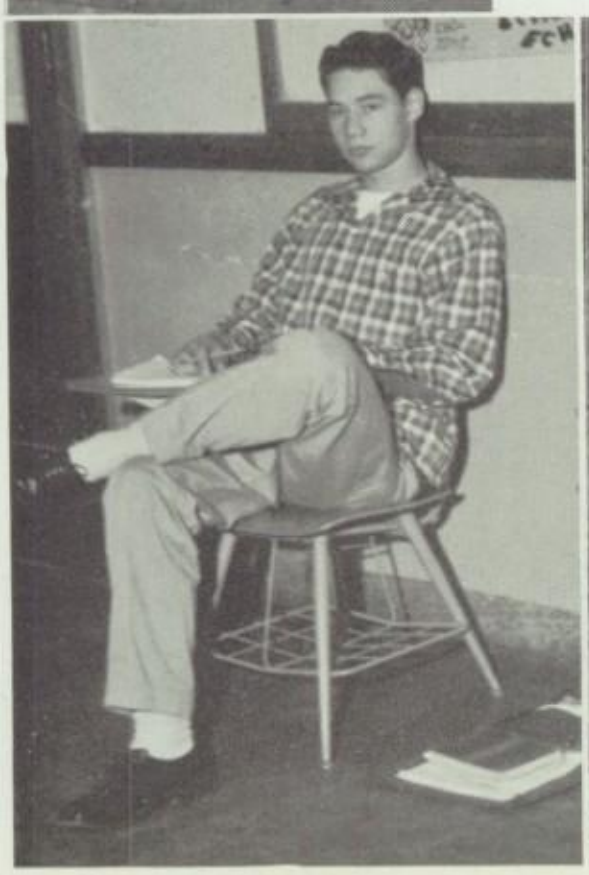
Senior Activities

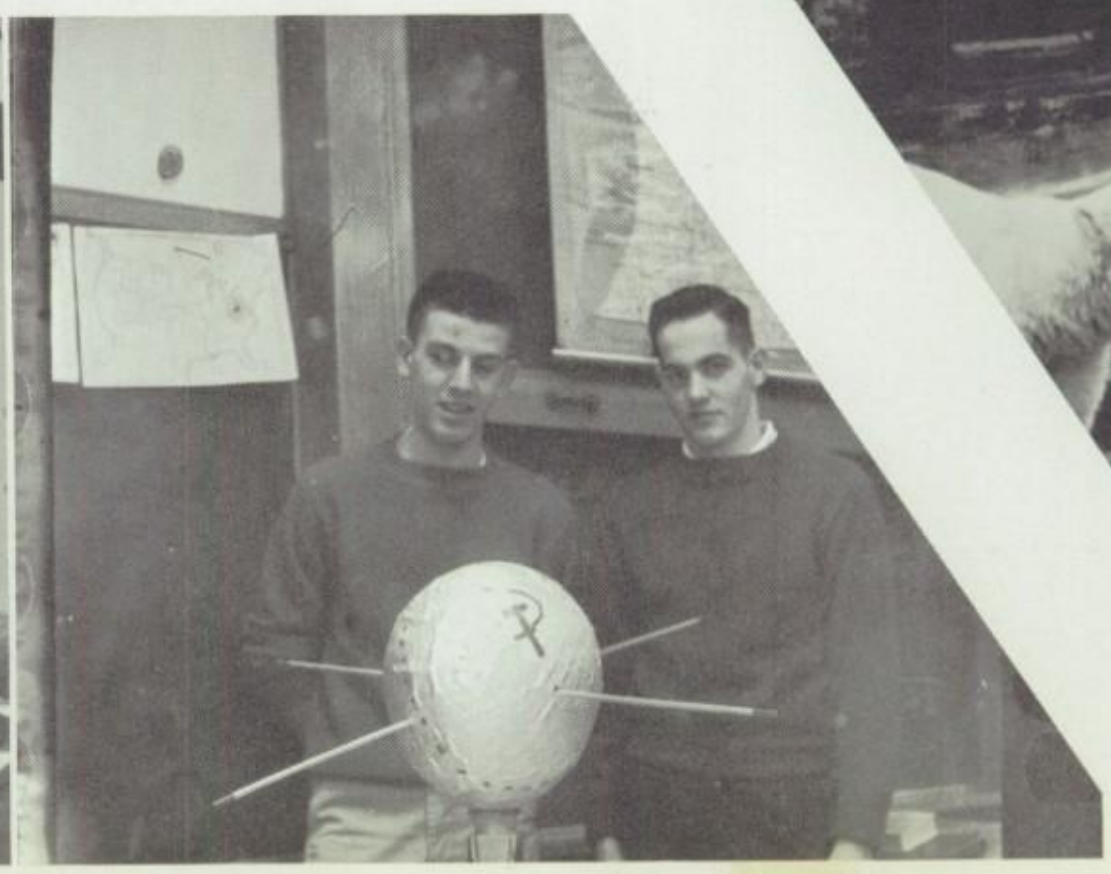
1. Scrimmage. 2. The girls at work. 3. Music Lover. 4. Genius at work. 5. Nose trouble. 6. Sputnik Special. 7. Hall Guard 8. Oops! 9. Go Creston.

Being a Senior in Creston High School is a very busy and enjoyable experience. The Seniors engage in many activities as is illustrated in these pictures.

Some boys find fun and sportsmenship in football, or if you'd rather, join Saga Staff, or the band. Many of our boys like to prove their skill in machine shop, while a few would rather loaf like this bear. There are many opportunities to practice your favorite hobby or help the Courtesy Squad keep orderly halls, or-"Whoops"-looks like she hurried to get to a class. And of course, yelling loudly you could be a cheerleader, the backbone of our school spirit.







Senior Play

The Senior High Student Council of 1957-1958 was headed by Tom Davidson president; Dick Petrovich vice-president; Mary Balback secretary; and Fred Challa treasurer.

Although busy with their regular activities, such as the annual Penny Carnival, after game dances and pep assemblies, the Student Council is trying more activities and projects for the active student body.

Certain members of the Student Council were invited to attend other high school council meetings to get further ideas on how other council meetings were carried on.

The Student Council is an organization consisting of members elected by each class to represent them as a student body. These members voice the opinions, ideals and interests of their classmates. After every meeting the minutes are usually read to the class by one of its representatives. The students therefore know just what their Student Council is doing.

Mr. Earl Knutson as sponsor has done a tremendous job in guiding them.

The Creston Echo, our offical school newspaper, is published bi-weekly by a group consisting of eleven senior girls.

Copyreading, photography, typing copy, headline writing, proof reading, and laying out pages are some of the numerous jobs to be done by the Echo members.

The Journalism class, composed of eleventh graders, helps the Echo Staff by collecting advertisements, circulating the paper every other week, and serving as reporters.

The Echo is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association and is also a member of the Quill and Scroll Society.

The Saga Staff, under the direction of Mr. Norman Tock, worked through the year to put out the year book. Many problems had to be solved by Bob Swart, the editor-in-chief, but the answers finally appeared. With much effort on the part of the staff, the finished Saga was sent to the printers and soon was put into the hands of the students. Did the students appreciate the effort of the staff? Could be, but they promptly began defacing it with autographs. Oh well! that's life for you.

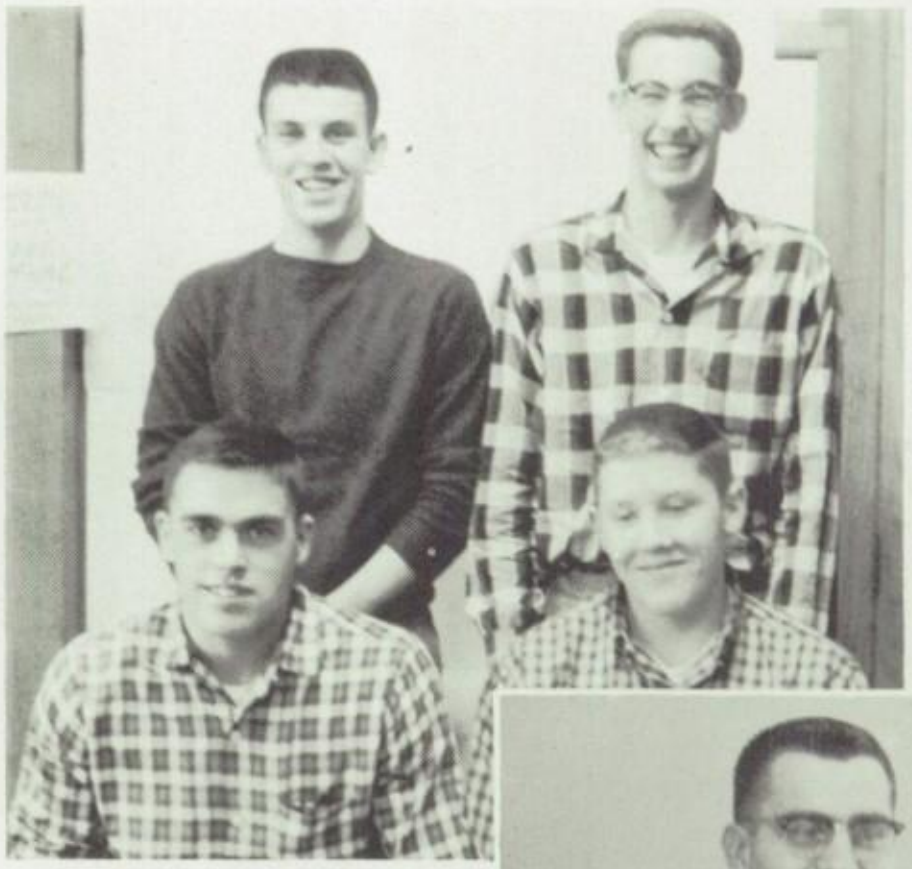
Hi-Y Club

Open to all senior high boys is the Hi-Y Club under the direction of Mr. Gene Blossom and sponsored by the Y.M.C.A.

The most important project for the year was the purchase of a record player for the teachers.

The activities of the Hi-Y Club this year were numerous parties and hay-rides. Members this year formed a bowling and basketball team.



Officers this year are: Joe Nameth, President; Dick Boehm, Vice President; Chuck Milett, Treasurer; and Gary Frederickson, Secretary.

Bible Club Crowd.

Bible Club

The inspiring words "Christ for Me" can be heard echoing down the hall every Friday morning at 7:50. Frequently, as many as eighty studeints attend the meetings of this organization to sing hymns, listen to special speakers, and pray. The Bible Club is a nonsectarian group with no formal membership, organized in all city schools to promote Christian fellowship among the students. A large rally is held every Saturday night in conjuction with the Bible Club in which students from the entire city gather together to enjoy fellowship with one another.

Faculty

Pictured here are the people who in part represent the maturity toward which all of us are working; the understanding which we would like to acquire; the knowledge for which we are all striving. These are the men and women who are helping to build the pattern of our lives by conveying to us a portion of their knowledge and insight. Through example, explanation, and careful guidance, these, the members of our faculty, are helping us to develop into mature, worthy individuals.
